Here's the email. There is a cut-off message where I told her that we would only be outside in the morning, and that we would not be missing class.

Hello,

I asked the administration and they said that you need be in your history ball costume. They are not allowing anyone to stand out front. I know you guys are trying to do a good thing and I think that's awesome.

See you tomorrow!

This is something that has to be approved by the principal. Did you get permission to miss class?

I was wondering if it would be alright if [REDACTED] and Myself did not wear our costumes tomorrow. We are going to wear our military uniforms, and stand guard outside the building in the morning, to make students feel safer, and let them know that there is people watching over them.

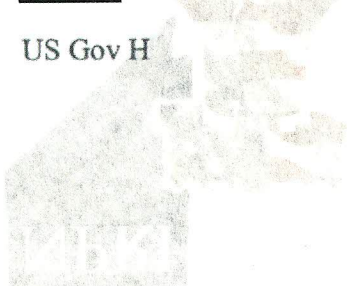

Thanks
